per the publication of this wave commenced The China Mail.

HONGEONS, MONDAY, PEDBUARY 8, 1892 Ir will be generally admitted, we have no doubt, that Mr Francis octed rightly at the last meeting of the Sanitary Board in objecting to the proposal that Mr Ladds, the Colonial Veterinary Surgeon, should be allowed to render professional services to the Dairy Farm Company. The principle which was involved in a very important one, "a fact which the other members of the Board either were not able to sppreciate or else purposely ignored. If i is once conceded that . Government servent, no matter what his position i his personal qualities, should be a lowed to undertake private nock which court obviously conflict with his public duties. the door is opened to incalculable corruption. That is a conclusion which it is impossible to avoid, looking at the matter brendly as one of principle. Such a concession should never be made, under ally circumstances. It is too often the case that a servant of the public sots as if he were nobody's servant. That is the cause of a great deal of the inefficiency and unfaithfulness which so often disgraces the public service. There is absolutely no reason why men who undertake to discharge certain duties on behalf of the public should be less loyal to the interests of those whom they profess to serve than others who are the employes of Goods per Terrington undelivered after this date subject to rent. private individuals. Yet it is a notorious fact that the work of public officers is often performed with a perfunctoriness and carelessness that would not be tolerated in the case of private employes. That affords an abundant reason for maintaining as tirmly as possible the principle in favour of which Mr Francis spoke at the niceting of the Sanitary Board; and although he was entirely unsupported on that occasion, we have no doubt that public feeling will be sltogether with him. It is unfortunate perhaps that the question should have to be discussed with reference to an individual officer of the Government, but a principle is a principle, and ought not to be made to give way to considerations of a personal mature. Although Mr Ladds might be absolutely 1.10 relied on to give up the post of Consulting Veterinery Surgeon to the Dairy Company such interfered with his official duties, it is obviously a very underirable thing to liave a public officer placed in such a position. It would, besides, establish a precedent of the very worst kind. The Dairy Farm is no doubt a very neeful institution, and it 7.50 0.75 is desirable in the interest of the community that the important afficle of diet which it supplies should always be perfectly wholesomo. It is part of Mr Ludde duty as Colonial Veterinary Surgeon to see that the company's cattle are properly kept and that the animals from which the milk is taken are in a healthy condition. It is his duty to order the slaughter of unimals infected with contagious disease and of others in regard to which infection Pints, is suspected; and it is also his duty to assess the amount of compensation to which the Dairy Farm Company might be 7 50 entitled in certain cases. Now, apart from 12.00 the question of pricople, is it to be supposed that these duties would be more faithfully discharged in the interests of the public if he were allowed to receive a salary from the Dary Form Company? Mr Francis -put the matter very plainly (as, indeed, he is in the habit of doing) when he said that the Oclonial Veterinary Surgeon was what might be called the 1 70 Board's detective, engaged in looking after all persons who kept cattle in Vintige. Red Capalle ... 30 2.50 the colony, and pointed out the incommistency of such an officer's being allowed 0.75 to take pay from any of those persons whom it was his duty to look after. There was practically no attempt 8 0.76 on the part of the other members of the Board to answer the arguments which Mr 0.75 Francis put forward. To the contention that the proposal was attarly wrong in principle, there could be no reply; and the members who acquiesced in the ar angoment seemed to think that the condition with regard to Mr Ladd's giving up the work when it interfered with his official duties made a world of difference, failing to see the position in which he would thus be placed.

The lady has made a very adventurous journey, which she underlook for scientific as well as artistic reasons, and is returning to Europe by way of the Suez Canal, She was a pupil of Moscholès and studied at the Academy of leipzig. She performed in Vladivostock during the visit of the Czarewitca, and afternards visted Corea.

WE are gled to hear that the Amateur Dramatic Olub intend to perform snother of the Crittion comedies, Betsy, about the end of the present month. Batav was produced in 1879, with tremendous success, when Mis Lottie Venn appeared in the maid's part and Mr W. J. Hill was Birkett. The comedy is constructed somewhat after the same schion as The Snowball, which was very successfully performed by the A. D. C. recently, only it is a much livelier piece. The plot hinges mainly on the pays. escapades of a gilded youth whom a clever servant mid tries to entrap into a marriage, and the omedy is rich in amusing situations and bright dialogue. The cast will be as follows:-

Dick TalletMr L Hallward. Adolphia Birkett (his sou) ... Mr B. Osborns. Capt. McManus, Mr J. Hazeland. Mr Daum, (a tutor,) ... Mr E. W. Mitchelf. Mrs Birm Mrs Barff.

The capacity under their conditions is 800,000,000 gallons for the supply of a district govering an area of 1:700 square miles, including 8 separate townships, etc. The quantity of concrete need was 60,000 cubic yards, the net time occupied in construction being about 24 Gold Leaf, 100 fine (per tael) 234.60 years. Special machinery was used for Bovereigns (Bank's buying rate)$ 6.85 mining the concrete and depositing it in place, and the whole work is regarded as a most creditable schierement.

VISITOR-Do you take notes when you preach, sir! Comptry Parson (ugbing) -When I can get om. But in this parish it's mostly garden truck and a donation.

"An for mie. I hope to be cremated." made that remark, observes Mark Twain, to my pastor once, who said, with what he seemed to think was an impressive manner.

TWO NEW AMERICAN INVENTIONS In the scientific chronicle of the American Quarterly Catholic Review is an account of two remarkable inventions. One is the use of ramie fibre as a material for the mannfacture of steam pipes. The pipe in imade out of ramie fibre, and then subjected to tremendous bydraulic pressure. Under times as strong as steel, while remaining maisture, and consequently will not leak, It will neither swell nor shrink, nor rot, nor rust; and for work buried under ground this is another most valuable property sadly lacking in trou and steel. Ramis is a nonconductor of heat. Moreover, ramie, in this hardened condition, is sufficiently incombustible to make it safe for use in steam pipes. Still more remarkable is the other discovery which is to the effect that artificial ivory is to be made, in the future. out of milk. The milk is first coagu. lated as in the process of making cheese. This is then strained and the whey rejected. Ten pounds of the ourd is taken and mixed with a solution of three pounds of borax in three quarts of water. This mixture is now placed in a suitable vessel over a slow fire, and left there till it separates into two parts, the one as thin as water, the other rather thicker, somewhat resembling melted gelatine. The watery part is next drawn of one pound of a mineral salt in three pints of water. Almost any mineral salt will answer; for example, sugar of lead, copperas, blue or white vitriol. This brings sbout another separation of the mass into a liquid and a mushy solid. The liquid is again got rid of by straining, or better by filtering. At this point, it desired, colouring makter may be added; if not, the final product will be white. The solid is now subjected to heavy pressure in moulds of any desired shape, and afterwards dried under very great heat. The resulting product, which has been named ! lactitis, is very hard and strong. It may be used in the manufacture of a great variety of articles, such as combs, billiard balls, knife handles, penholders -in fine, for almost anything for which bono, lvory, ebonite or celluloid have heretofore been employed.
